

The Greek festival of Sydney 2006 proudly presents;

War Diaries

- A poem play -

Written by Voya Rajic

Original Musical Score by Evaggelos Papageorgiou

An immigrant Greek family settles in the middle of Australia and opens a cafe. Their son falls in love with an Indigenous girl ... This is the story of their journey.

This is a play in verse that portrays the lives of four generations of women; their relationship interwoven with love, happiness, grief, loss and gain.

The bond of love and coexistence, happiness and grief of people from different backgrounds is explored in depth and given magical dimensions in this work.

The work contains eleven original songs that will move you and elevate your appreciation of things human and earthy.

Engaging you to appreciate what you are and where you are, War Diaries entices you to seize the chance to make decisions and take note of the actions and thoughts of others.

Many will interpret it differently – if you see it, you will have ample fresh material for all those good dinner conversations.

An evening to become acquainted with a play in verse bound to enrich your outlook.

Be our guest and discover poetry at play interwoven with music, Australia's recent history, its fortunes and its pains.

DETAILS;

DATE; March 8 – April 9th 2006, Wed through to Sunday

Wed – Sat; 7.30pm, Sun; 5.30pm

WHERE; Hellenic Art Theatre

142 Addison Road, Marrickville, Building No. 36

For Further Information:

8504-2892 and 0418-410-928